Re: the Peace Child Israel Educational Program

We are familiar with the Peace Child Israel educational program that focuses on an encounter between Jewish and Arab children in theatrical activities, and view it in a positive light.

Through these activities the children get to know one another, and they advance the goal of coexistence in Israel.

In the framework of the program the teachers of both groups meet; this activity was examined and approved from the pedagogical point of view by the Department for the Implementation of the Kremnitzer Report.

To the best of my knowledge, the program's students are given credit for their participation in the program as part of the Service Learning Project.

I believe that the continuation of this program and its operation in the education system is beneficial for the interested schools.

Sincerely,

Adar Cohen

Professional Supervisor of Civics and head of the Department for the Implementation of the Kremnitzer Report
